BLASTS POLICE AT MASSILLON

Prosecutor Declares Chief Obscures Evidence Pointing to Babies' Murder.

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., July 18—Stark County Prosecutor D. D. McLaughlin declared today that Massillon police investigating the deaths of two baby girls in Massillon City hospital "have from the very beginning of the case sought to disregard and minimize the importance of the coroner's findings and the medical testimony which supports it."

In a statement McLaughlin asserted "the chief of police (Stanley W. Switter) adheres to the theory that no crime was committed, but that the deaths of these babies were the result of accidents.

"This office has not disregarded or in any way minimized any evidence which would tend to support the accident theory. We have submitted the matter to experts and have cooperated in bringing older children, who were patients in the same ward the night of the tragedy, into court for questioning.

"Our perusal of the evidence tending to support the accident theory has resulted in every instance in our finding more evidence which tends to support the murder theory."

"Will Be Solved"

The prosecutor said "our interest continues and we are confident that this mystery will be solved. The people of Massillon can assist greatly by disregarding and ignoring completely idle rumors and gossip."

"If the accident theory is correct," the prosecutor continued, "then I have no duty at all, and no power to inquire into the matter of how they came to their deaths.

"My investigation and that of my colleague, Detective Harry W. Grossglaus, has naturally been confined to those phases of the case which point to and sustain the homicidal theory because we have power only to inquire into the commission of crime," McLaughlin explained.

In his statement, the prosecutor cites the opinion of four doctors who expressed belief the deaths of the babies were caused by use of a blunt instrument or dashing of the babies' heads against a wall of the nursery.

Chief Maintains "Accident"

Chief Switter has stuck tenaciously to the theory of accidental death.

The chief was not available immediately for comment on McLaughlin's statement.

First Murder Hunt Cards Mailed Today

First of more than 1,000 cards bearing a picture and description of Edward Demoine Young, 39, wanted here in the murder of Mrs. Zora Hess Gerbes, were mailed from Sheriff LeRoy Retterer's office today.

The cards will go to police departments and sheriffs' offices in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The strangled and trussed-up body of Mrs. Gerbes, mother of three children, was found a week ago today in the St. Paul's Lutheran church yard on route 98, east of Marion.

Since then the sheriff's office has been without a single authentic clue as to Young's whereabouts.

The cards list the aliases Young, an ex-cinvict, is known to have used at various times. They are C. F. Warner, E. Edwards and E. N. Davis.

CIRCUS PERFORMER HURT IN ACCIDENT

Al Davis, 30, who twice daily defies death from a high wire in the top of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus tent, is in City hospital, the victim of a 20-foot fall.

Davis was injured at 1:30 p. m., before the afternoon show, when he became entangled in a rope as he slid from high up in the "big top" where he had inspected rigging for his act.

The hospital reported Davis is suffering from a back injury and possibly other injuries not yet determined.

He is a member of the Aizanas family troupe of high wire artists, one of a number of European acts imported by the circus this season. His home is in Yorkshire, England. True to circus tradition the act will go on tonight, but without Davis, show officials said.

2 LAST CIRCUS

After testing the rigging Davis was sliding to the ground when he became entangled in the rope. Losing his grip he fell 20 feet. He was taken to the hospital in a circus station wagon.

Davis' injury followed the usual pattern for circus aerial performers show officials said. Seldom are they hurt while giving their performances, injuries usually coming from seemingly minor mishaps.

Davis' part of the Alzanas act is to skip rope on the high wire and to walk it without a balancing pole.

Circus Rolls To Showgrounds After Early Arrival Today

(More about circus on pages 10 and 11)

The first of four long red and gold trains bearing the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus arrived in Marion from Mansfield at 1:54 a. m. and started unloading from the Erie siding at Bennett street.

The second and third sections arrived at 7:27 a. m. and 9:55 a. m. respectively with the sleeping cars for performers coming in just ahead of the third section.

Sleepy-eyed Marion residents arrived to watch the unloading of the 100 seventy-foot flat and stock cars.

The procession of dappled gray horses, elephants and hundreds of other animal attractions could be seen on the route to Crystal Lake park, north of Marion, where the show will be held. The afternoon performance was to start at 3:15 p. m. The evening show starts at 8:15. Doors for the night show open at 7 p. m. so the spectators may visit the menagerie attractions which includes a baby rhino.

The route from Bennett street crossing to the show grounds was east on Bennett to Davids street, north to West Center, east to Leader street then north to Fairground street, east on Fairground to North Main then north to Crystal park.

The circus trains will leave here for Columbus tonight over the Dayton division of the Erie and will travel to Peoria, south of Richwood, and then transfer to the New York Central for the remainder of the trip to the capital city. The circus will show there Saturday and Sunday.

ACCIDENT KILLS J. L. BOWMAN

Oregon Mountain Truck Crash Fatal to Former Marion Resident.

Injuries suffered in a truck accident near Ashland, Ore., Wednesday caused the death of James Lloyd Bowman, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowman of 265 Bellevue avenue, at 5:20 p. m. yesterday in Community hospital, Ashland. A brother, David, left Detroit by plane at 9 o'clock last night and was expected to arrive in Ashland early today.

Mr. Bowman, who was a truck driver for a Los Angeles firm, was returning from a Los Angeles-to-Seattle run when the heavy diesel tractor-trailer he was operating overturned on a mountain grade near Ashland. He suffered a skull fracture and probable internal injuries and died without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Bowman was born at Caledonia Jan. 27, 1914. His father, W. C. Bowman, was born at South Point, O., and his mother, Hazel Marie Neal Bowman, is a native of Kirkpatrick. He attended the Marion schools and before going west about two and one-half years ago was employed with the Chesapeake and Ohio and Erie Railroad companies here. His marriage was to Ruby Humphrey.

Surviving are three children, Robert, Betty and James Lloyd Bowman Jr., who make their home with their mother at 500 South Main street, his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Helen Belcher of Baton Rouge, La., who is visiting at the home of her parents at present, Dorothy Jean and Ruth Ellen Bowman at home, and five brothers, Charles Durand and George Richard Bowman of Detroit, David, who is a student in college at Baton Rouge, La., W. C. Bowman Jr. and John Fletcher Bowman at home. Surviving also is his grandmother, Mrs. Alice Bowman of near Marion.

Next Three Months To Indicate Chances Of Ohio Polio Flare

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, July 18—Dog days bring polio days, and the infantile paralysis foundation warned today that the next three months will tell the story of whether or not there will be an epidemic in Ohio this year.

So far the news is encouraging. There were 39 cases reported throughout the state as of July 15 compared with 61 during the same period last year.

However, the foundation is keeping its fingers crossed. Of 718 cases last year, 518 occurred during the months of August, September and October, with peaks of 194 in August and 214 in September.

Summit county hadn't one case reported this year until this month, when it had eight.

Francis Strapp, state representative for the foundation, said there was no particular area pocket of the disease cropping up in the state so far this year.

If and when the dreaded polio strikes he said, don't worry about expense, but get in touch with your local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The symptoms may be severe enough to kill or so mild that a diagnosis is difficult, even for a doctor. Watch for headaches, an unexplained fever, a cold, or even an upset stomach. When they persist and you're uncertain call a doctor—and when the doctor says polio call the foundation.

SLAVS STALL BALKAN DEBATE

Bulgaria Joins Attempt To Slow Down UN Consideration of Problem.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 18—Bulgaria today joined Russia and the other "Slav bloc" states in what appeared to be a planned attempt to delay action in the United Nations security council on the explosive Balkan problem.

Dr. M. Mevorah, Bulgarian representative, took the floor at the opening of this morning's session to continue the attack on the United States plan for a semi-permanent border watch along Greece's northern frontier.

He followed closely the line laid down yesterday when Poland Yugoslavia and Russia took up more than six hours of the council's two sessions opposing the U. S. proposal and blaming Greece for the Balkan troubles.

Debate Nears End

It appeared, however, that the general debate was nearing its end. Dr. Oscar Lance, of Poland, council president, indicated that he had no more speakers on his list. The next move was for the council to begin a detailed discussion of the American and Soviet resolutions now awaiting action.

Meanwhile, the United States was reported ready to introduce a revised version of its original resolution, bringing it into line with suggestions offered by France and other delegates during the general debate.

The new draft was considered at length in a pre-session conference of the British, French and American delegations in the delegates' lounge this morning, but the actual changes were not made public immediately.

Won't Guess Soviet Action

Most delegates were reluctant to anticipate what Russia would do when the council came to a vote on the American proposal for a commission to stand guard over the Balkans and settle disputes.

The general feeling, however after the speech yesterday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was that Russia might abstain from voting and thus permit the establishment of the commission.

Some delegates felt that Russia still was hoping for delays which might produce some type of compromise and open the way for Gromyko to abstain.

American sources said, however, that the U. S. delegation would not budge in its position and would not accept any compromise that would weaken its proposal.

Lure of Marion Sends 84-Year-Old on Trip

At the age when most men rely on walking canes and wheel chairs for support, a spry 84-year-old resident of the Franklin county home was arrested yesterday in the C. & O. railway yards south of Marion for hopping a coal train.

The aged youngster, Frank Adams, was brought into municipal court today on a charge of train riding, filed by the C. & O. police. Adams told police he just wanted to visit Marion, although he said he had no relatives here. He was taken from the coal train at 11 a. m. yesterday.

He was fined $10 and costs in court today, but both were suspended with the provision that he leave Marion at once.

Liquor Head Demands Companies Take Back "Overstocked" Spirits

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 18—Liquor salesmen "knowingly overstocked" the state liquor department in the last three months of 1946, Liquor Director Dale Dunifon declared today in making public an ultimatum to 61 firms from which Ohio buys its spirits.

"The liquor department will not buy that first bottle from any company which refuses to discuss an equitable adjustment of slow-moving and overstocked items," Dunifon asserted in a news conference.

Dunifon listed these major points:

►State liquor warehouses are bulging with a $40,000,000 inventory of liquor when normal inventory is $17,500,000.

►The department will purchase no more liquor until "further notice."

►The Franklin county prosecutor has been handed Dunifon's report for possible grand jury investigation as recommended by the senate special liquor investigating committee.

►The inventory is badly out of balance, with a surplus of slow-moving items such as brandies and cordials.

Dunifon said three companies already have taken back overstocked items.

61 Firms Approached

A letter demanding such action was mailed July 14 to 61 firms selling spirits to Ohio, Dunifon said.

Dunifon made public a letter written by him to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert in which he declared the overall inventory of spirits normally at $17,500,000, jumped in the last three months of 1946 to $25,-611,000 with an additional $13,-535,000 worth of goods ordered but not delivered.

Because of tremendous orders in closing months of former Gov. Frank J. Lausche's administration, the liquor department currently owes $16,930,000, with only $5,-142,934 on hand in cash, Dunifon explained.

"This results not only in unnecessary delay in payment of obligations," he said, "but also prevents the department from taking advantage of discounts which in 1946 amounted to $957,366," he added.

Dunifon said also bulging state warehouses cost the liquor department more than $26,000 a month "to warehouse this surplus stock."

Warehouses Full

Warehouses are so full, Dunifon tolds newsmen, that "if we should get a chance to buy a carload of Scotch, we wouldn't have any place to warehouse it."

The state liquor department's inventory also is badly out of balance, the director disclosed.

Where the normal inventory should contain 1.14 per cent of rum, it actually contains 7.61 per cent.

Current stocks are 8.4 per cent cordials, instead of 1.63 per cent as in normal inventories.

Other slow moving types of spirits are up in proportion, Dunifon said.

This means, the director explained, that instead of stocking 88 per cent of whisky—the fastest moving of all hard liquor items—the state actually is stocking only 66.38 per cent.

"Ohio Loses Money"

"In restoring the liquor department to a sound financial condition and reducing the inventory to a normal status, it becomes apparent that the state of Ohio stands to lose a substantial sum of money," Dunifon wrote the governor.

Immediate action in reducing slow-moving items took the form of a blanket ban on the purchase of all liquor items.

"Nothing will be bought until further notice," Dunifon declared.

2 Die in Ohio Plane Crash

By The Associated Press

WILMINGTON, O., July 18—Maj. Thomas Powell reported today a weather observation plane from the Clinton county army airport was involved in a mid-air collision with a private ship which carried its two passengers to their deaths in a plunge near Wauseon.

The army plane was damaged and its pilot injured slightly but he was able to return to his base near here.

The victims were identified by Fulton county coroner as Walter W. Hyde Jr., 23, and Joanne Brouse, both of Wellington. Relatives said they were enroute to Michigan lakes for the weekend when the accident occurred.

Powell, army airport public relations officer, said the military ship involved in the crash was a P-61 Black Widow used in thunderstorm observations.

He identified the pilot as Capt.

TRUMAN APPROVES SUCCESSION BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 18—President Truman today signed the presidential succession bill placing Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass) in line to replace him in the event Mr. Truman is unable to complete his term.

The legislation, which Mr. Truman requested immediately after he entered the White House and vacated the vice-presidency, was signed as part of the presidential routine.

There was none of the ceremony that sometimes accompanies the signing of important measures.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who told reporters of the signing, said he knows of no plans to assign a secret service agent to protect Martin.

Until Mr. Truman signed the legislation, Secretary of State Marshall had been next in line to the presidency.

The new bill outlining order of presidential succession places the speaker immediately behind the vice-president.

The president pro tempore of the senate—now Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich)—is next in line of succession after the speaker of the house.

Cabinet officers, starting with the secretary of state, follow in order provided by previous law.

City Councilman Tate Seriously Ill in Hospital

Charles H. Tate of 188 Franconia avenue, city councilman-at-large, was admitted to City hospital last evening where he is receiving medical treatment. He became ill while on a fishing trip last week at Watersmeet, Mich., and returned home Saturday. Accompanied on the trip by Francis Voll of Marion, they left here July 5. Mr. Tate was placed under an oxygen tent this morning and his condition is reported to be "serious." Mr. Tate operates a clothing store on North Main street.

SUSTAINER IN SENATE SEEN

G.O.P. Concedes Upper Chamber Will Kill Measure; Count Is 299-108.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 18—The house voted today to override President Truman's second veto of the Republican-backed $4,000,-000,000 tax cut. But indications are that the senate may sustain the President and thus kill the bill.

The house vote to override was 299 to 108, 28 more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

A total of 63 Democrats joined 236 Republicans in the vote to override the President.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters the senate Republican policy committee will press for a vote later today on the veto.

A powerful Republican-Democrat coalition rolled up in the house the more than two-thirds majority necessary to override the veto.

Democrats Shift

The house roll call showed a substantial shift of Democrats in support of the measure, which provides for tax reduction effective Jan. 1, 1948. The chamber previously had voted 268 to 137—two short of the required two-thirds—to sustain Mr. Truman's veto of the first bill which would have made the cuts effective last July 1.

Just as he did in vetoing the first bill, Mr. Truman again said the tax legislation provides the "wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time."

If the senate should upset predictions and vote to override, the bill will provide cuts ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest taxable incomes to 10.5 per cent on incomes over $302,000.

Republicans virtually conceded the senate will pitch the new measure in the scrap heap. The chamber voted 80 to 32 to pass the bill—two votes short of two-thirds majority that will be required to make the bill law over the veto.

Erases All Hopes

G.O.P. leaders say failure of the senate to override will erase all prospects of relief for 40,000,000 income taxpayers next year. They promised to throw the tax issue into the 1948 presidential campaign.

Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece said "it will be quite satisfactory from the Republican standpoint to have Mr. Truman campaign next year for a fifth term for the New Deal with the slogan, 'Relief for Everyone but the American Taxpayer.'"

Mr. Truman said in his veto message that when the time comes to lessen the wartime tax burden it should be reduced "on a basis that is fair to low income groups as well as to high income groups."

He did not specify when he thought the time would be ripe for cutting taxes, but added:

"I am unequivocally committed to the right kind of tax reduction at the right time."

"Requires Careful Study"

"The right kind of tax reduction must be based upon a careful consideration of all elements of our tax structure," he added.

Just before the house began its roll call on whether to override the President's veto, Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the house ways and means committee, author of the bill, told his colleagues:

"It is highly improbable, if this bill is killed, that another effort will be made to pass it. The issue will be submitted to that great tribunal—the American people—in 1948, and we will let them decide whether they want tax reduction."

Mr. Truman said "there has been no lessening of the need to make substantial payments on the public debt."

But Mr. Truman termed this measure "a premature and faulty tax reduction bill" which would

The Aladdin hospital association provides care for crippled children under 14 years old who meet the association's requirements. Two Marion children recently received treatment through the movement.

deaths of Rosemary Morton, 10 weeks, and Diane J. Brand, eight weeks, were homicide and said "crushing force" had been applied to the sides of the babies' heads.

The babies were found by Nurse Marian Silleck dying of skull fractures in their cribs the night of June 6 after she had checked the room approximately 10 minutes earlier and found them sleeping.

Parents of the babies, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Morton and Mrs. and Mrs. Leo Brand, have filed damage suits totaling $400,000 against the hospital and its employes.

Commenting on these suits today, Attorney Thomas D. Moore of Cleveland declared "we plan to get by civil action what amounts to a grand jury investigation."

The first two suits filed against two officials of the hospital and three other persons charged "conspiracy with wilful malicious intent and purpose to obstruct administration of justice." The other two suits filed against the Massillon Hospital Corp., operators of the hospital, asked damages because of alleged loss of their children through "negligence" of hospital operators.

for public employment offices. The budget request was for only $1,460,000, to supplement funds voted in the regular labor department supply bill, but the committee added another $8,000,000 with the acknowledgment that "the reduction in the regular bill was too drastic."

$100,000,000 for stockpiling of strategic and critical materials. The committee cut $50,000,000 from the budget request and cautioned the bureau of federal supply against acquiring perishable items unless there is an immediate need for them, and against causing "undue reaction in the market price of the various items under consideration."

Half a dozen other agencies shared the remaining funds, which were for projects on which there was little controversy in the committee.

The bill was carded for immediate house action, and house leaders hoped to have it on the way to the senate by nightfall.

The committee omitted all funds to carry out the federal employes' loyalty program set up by presidential order last March. Mr. Truman asked $24,900,000 for the program, but the committee noted that congress is setting up a loyalty screening program of its own and will provide the funds in another bill expected to be approved next week.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, July 18 — Ray Ross of Ashland was bound over to the Delaware county grand jury under $2,000 bond Wednesday after pleading not guilty to a charge of taking an outboard motor and milking machine from the Meredith Implement Co. in Sunbury July 5. Ross allegedly broke into the implement company while returning from a holiday visit with relatives in Kentucky. The milking unit was recovered at the home of Ross' brother in Ashland after Ross had told Earl Fravel, Delaware county sheriff, where it could be located.

SEA SURVIVORS LISTED AT 70

Remainder of 721 Passengers Aboard Bombay Vessel Believed Dead.

By The Associated Press

BOMBAY, India, July 18—About 70 survivors were reported today to have been found out of 721 persons who were aboard the 400-ton coastal steamer Ramdas when she sank yesterday in the storm-swept Arabian sea, 12 miles south of Bombay.

Manager L. Sheth of the Indian Cooperative Steam Navigation and Trading Company, Ltd., which owned the ship, gave this estimate on the basis of reports from villages and other places around Bombay harbor.

Commander H. J. Mills, principal sea transport officer of the government of India, came here today and began an official inquiry into the disaster. He questioned some survivors this morning and expected to hear from the captain and other ship's officers this afternoon.

Search Heavy Seas

The Bombay post trust, the Royal Indian Navy and many fishermen cooperated in the search for survivors in a sea still running high from the week-end monsoon.

The 11-year-old Ramdas capsized under the impact of two tremendous waves and sank within five minutes near Gull island.

The vessel at the time was near the end of her regular passenger run from this city to the fishing village of Revas, across Bombay harbor, with 673 passengers and a large crew aboard. At least three of the passengers were reported to be European—including a woman and a child.

Some survivors, including the captain and part of the crew, reached shore without help. Others were picked up by fishing vessels, but the harbor shores were reported littered with the bodies of victims.

45-Minute Run

Company officials said that while "normal monsoon weather" prevailed, no storm warnings had been given at 8 a. m. when the Ramdas left the ferry wharf here on the 45-minute run, generally regarded as safe for the vessel even in the monsoon.

CALEDONIA GETS NEW POWER RATE

Electric Bills To Be Reduced Up to 10 Per Cent.

New rate agreements saving customers up to 10 per cent on their electric current bills will go into effect in Caledonia next Monday, Harold J. Grigsby, Marion division manager of the Ohio Public Service Co. announced today.

The announcement was made after Caledonia council granted the company a new franchise, voted an ordinance for new domestic rates and authorized a new street lighting contract.

The domestic rate ordinance is to run 10 years. It sets up a charge for residential users which Mr. Grigsby said would average 10 per cent lower than the previous rate. The street lighting contract also is to run for 10 years. It covers the operation of approximately 50 lights. The reduced charge will mean a savings of about 5 per cent to the village, Mr. Grigsby said. The franchise was written without an expressed time limit.

Bills to be mailed customers for July will be under the new rate.

Newsprint Shortage Forces Some Publishers To Pay Sky-High Prices To Supply Needs

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 18—Some U. S. newspaper publishers are paying sky-high prices for newsprint in an international free market that stretches from New York to the Orient.

Paper from Canada, Sweden, France and Poland is being sold and offered at prices from around $200 a ton up—with the accent on the "up." At least one publisher has paid $290 a ton.

This $290 charge is 219 per cent above the so-called contract price of $91 a ton delivered in New York, the price at which the great bulk of newsprint, mostly from Canada, is sold in the United States.

Publishers of metropolitan dailies as well as small-town papers are paying fancy prices to pad out dangerously low supplies. Stocks of newsprint held by all U. S. publishers at the end of May were the lowest level on record and only slightly higher at the end of June, according to the latest report of the American Newspaper Publishers association.

These high-priced supplies, small in relation to total U. S. consumption, find their way into domestic trade channels by devious routes. Most of the dealers are relatively small operators dealing in newsprint for the first time. It is a temporary market for them, and they are making the most of it while they can. Some dealers call this free market—as contrasted with the contract market at $91—a "gray market."

Offering 500 Tons

One paper is currently offering 500 tons of high-quality Swedish newsprint at $240 a ton at Curacao, Netherlands West Indies. This is equivalent to about $260 a ton delivered in New York.

Asked for the reason he based his price at Curacao, he explained that the tonnage was shipped from Sweden and destined for a Latin American consumer. Due to a friendly connection between the Latin American agent for the Swedish manufacturer and his own firm, he said, this tonnage was diverted from its scheduled destination. He said that 500 tons would be available about every four to six weeks.

French newsprint is offered for August delivery at $225 a ton, a $5-a-ton boost within the last month. Sales of this newsprint have already been made, or arranged, to papers in the midwest and south in amounts ranging from 36 to 770 tons.

An official of the newspaper which first used the French product said that a paper dealer had apparently circularized newspapers with samples, stating where it had been used, and that as a result he had been deluged with inquiries from publishers all over the country.

Shortage in France

French newsprint has been shipped to this country despite a desperate shortage in France and statements by French officials that such exports are frowned upon by the government. Exports are subject to license. A French embassy spokesman said the paper had been exported through some "mix-up" in export permits.

Another source of supply for the high-priced free market is the diversion of Canadin paper consigned to New York for re-export.

A typical transaction occurred several weeks ago, one paper dealer said, involving a shipment of newsprint to Shanghai from a Canadian mill through the port of New York. The exporter in New York learned that his Shanghai customer had gone bankrupt after the paper had arrived in New York, this dealer said. The paper eventually filtered into the free market. This same story was told by another source who said the Shanghai consignee had reneged on his contract.

Well-informed sources in the industry stated they know of only one instance, involving about 32 tons of newsprint in which a Canadian mill deliberately arranged with its New York agent to divert into the free market newsprint which was ostensibly bound for re-export from New York.

Polish Paper Offered

A New York trade paper a few days ago carried an advertisement offering 1,000 metric tons of Polish newsprint $210 a ton for the Polish seaport of Gdynia. Delivery price at New York would be about $225 plus insurance, commissions and possibly other charges.

A fair quality of off-size newsprint also has found its way to the high-priced market. Normally a publisher would not bother with odd sizes but one southern newspaper paid $180 a ton for short-width newsprint which resulted in a paper with some pages only one and one-half columns wide. Other publishers have resorted to this expediency.

Another lot of newsprint which may enter the free market is at Sakhalin, the Russian-controlled island north of Japan. A spokesman for Amtorg, the Soviet trade agency in New York, said the paper was of "inferior" quality and that a price had not been decided on. He added that export from Russia would be an isolated case inasmuch as the Soviets could use all the newsprint they produced.

The whole problem of the newsprint shortage despite somewhat higher production in Canada, the main world producer and this country's chief source of supply, now is being investigated by two committees of congress. The Canadian combines investigation commissioner has made a "confidential" report regarding an alleged "combine" in the newsprint industry in Canada.

Committees and Manufacturer's Council Hold Session.

Three committees and groups of the Marion Chamber of Commerce have held meetings this week.

The civic affairs committee met Wednesday noon at Hotel Harding to hear William K. Davis, member of the fair board, make a report on the proposed bond issue for construction of a coliseum at the fairgrounds. Mr. Davis pointed to the need for the building to handle the expanded program of the county fair. He said it was believed the building could be put to year-around use by groups in all parts of the city and county. No action was taken by the committee. Chairman Henry A. Krigbaum presided.

Progress in the effort to have state route 95 extended from Lafong west to Russells Point was reported at a meeting of the highway committee Monday afternoon in the Chamber offices. Plans for the establishment of a new Greyhound bus terminal here also were discussed. Dallas Hartruff, chairman of the committee presided.

Monday noon at Hotel Harding the Manufacturer's Council heard a talk by G. W. Rosenerans, legislative director of the Ohio Chamber, on his observation of the recent session of the state legislature. Edgar W. Barnhart, chairman, presided.

VAST ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY PLAN O.K.'D

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 18—The senate foreign relations committee approved by a vote of 9 to 4 today legislation authorizing the vast St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

The committee's decision thus makes certain that the long controversial issue, involving expenditure of an estimated half billion dollars, will go to the senate next year for action.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) said that the committee will delay its formal report to the senate until the first legislative week of the next session opening in January.

A minority report will be filed at the same time, he said.

Vandenberg told reporters Wednesday that there is "no chance" for the senate to act on the measure during the present session.

The legislation, which has been before congress in various forms since 1933, provides that the seaway be made self liquidating through imposition of tolls.

PLANE CRASH

Lawrence R. Lockwood of Columbus, and said he was cut about the neck and shoulders.

In the army plane but unhurt was T/S Adolph G. Rippe of Cleveland, and First Lt. Gerhardt Weber of Baltimore, who was hitchhiking a ride to Lansing, Mich., the weather plane's destination.

Powell said Lockwood gave this account of the accident:

While cruising at 2,500 feet altitude about 215 miles an hour over Archbold (near Wauseon) there was a terrific impact and the plane dropped about 100 feet before it could be righted.

The impact came from above and the tail wheel of a small plane ripped open the canopy over the cockpit and dropped inside the army ship.

Lockwood said he circled the area after regaining control of his plane but did not see the other ship.

Powell said that a check convinced him that the plane which fell near Wauseon was the same one involved in the collision with the army ship.

Board of Education Acts On City School Budget for 1948

The budget for the calendar year of 1948 was approved by the city board of education at an adjourned meeting of the board Thursday afternoon at the school administration building. The date for a public hearing on the budget was set for Tuesday, Aug. 12.

In keeping with the trend of the last several years which have shown a steady increase, both the anticipated income and expenditures will be higher, the figures show. Total estimated income for the year is $837,031.78. Expenditures are estimated at $757,383.40. The 1947 budget set estimated receipts at $730,315.21.

Receipts from local taxation on a 100 per cent return are estimated at $287,000 and from the school foundation under the new program $414,527. With the present balance and other income from the sale of text books, state aid, etc., the total income for the calendar year of 1948 will be $837,031.78. The balance for Dec. 31, 1948, is estimated at $89,648.38.

Of the $757,383.40 set up as anticipated expenditures, $510,000 is for personal services of teachers, exclusive of superintendent; administrative, $21,837; operation of the school plant, which includes supplies, repairs, etc., $38,000; and maintenance, $60,000. Following recommendations made in a recent state survey the board will carry a balance of $60,000 at the end of the calendar year, which represents money owed to teachers for work completed during school term, salaries being distributed on a 12-month basis.

Upon the recommendation of Supt. E. E. Holt, the resignations of E. A. Roth, distributive education instructor, Miss Marjorie Williams, Miss Vivian Pessal and Miss Helen Pennell were accepted. Mr. Roth will go to Bowling Green university as assistant professor of education in charge of training distributive education teachers. Miss Pessal who was on leave of absence from the Oakland school staff last year, will go to Canton, and Miss Pennell, who was at the Glenwood building, will go to Youngstown. Miss Williams was formerly on the staff at Vernon Junior High school.

The board approved Mr. Holt's recommendation of Howard Roy Thomas, captain of the Denison university football team in 1946 as football line coach at Harding, George C. Whitehead of Alexandria as an athletic coach, and Marion C. Chase of Duke Center, Pa., as speech and dramatic coach at Harding. Mr. Whitehead, whose work has not been assigned, was graduated from Ohio any college and has had three years experience. Last year the Alexandria football and basketball teams were county champions. He is married and has no children. Mr. Chase was graduated from Otterbein university this year's class and has been highly recommended by the faculty there. He is unmarried.

Junior Baseball Loop Holds Second Session

The second session of games in the newly formed city Junior baseball league was run off at Garfield park and at Harding field Thursday afternoon.

Jerew's club beat Laird, 8-1, in the last of the seventh, single to right scoring a man from second. Seedle, Laird pitcher, fanned 11.

In the other game Cramer beat Regulas, 12-7.

These games were in the 16-year-old age group. Today several of the games that were rained out this week are scheduled to be made up.

Cincinnati Coal Price Jumps $1.55 Per Ton

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 18—The retail price of coal jumped an average of $1.55 a ton here today.

Walter Busch, executive secretary of the Cincinnati Coal and Coke Merchants association, ind., who announced the increase, said the price boost could be blamed "on John L. Lewis, or the producers, or whomever you will. The responsibility for the increase is not in the retail market."

The new price of smokeless, egg and lump varieties of coal is $12.50. Stoker coal is $11.45 a ton and industrial coal, used in factories and for other commercial purposes, is up $1 to $7.15 a ton.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Kidney Trouble

The work of the kidneys is so important to the whole body that no disorder affecting them can be safely neglected.

One of the most common of such conditions and one which can occur at any age is pyelitis, or inflammation of that part of the kidney where the urine collects before it empties into the bladder.

Germs causing the inflammation may be brought to the kidney from some other part of the body through the blood stream or they may pass upwards from the bladder. But in either case, according to Dr. Joseph C. Birdsall of Philadelphia, they do not usually become entrenched in the kidney itself unless there is some blocking in the urinary tract, that is, either in the bladder or in the tubes which lead to it from the kidneys.

A diagnosis of pyelitis is made by such sypmtoms as a burning sensation when the bladder is emptied, and frequent emptying of the bladder. Fever is often present. An examination of the urine shows the presence of many white blood cells.

Pyelitis may occur in persons of any age. It is more frequent in girl babies than in boy babies.

In such cases, the disorder usually starts with chills and fever, and the temperature may go as high as 102 to 106 degrees. Sickness to the stomach and vomiting are often present. Constipation or diarrhea may also occur in older children.

In adults, when pyelitis occurs, there usually is some inflammation also of other parts of the kidney. This condition tends to occur especially during pregnancy or during child-bearing time.

In treating pyelitis, the patient should be put to bed at complete rest and given a diet containing no highly seasoned foods. He should be given plenty of fluids by mouth, and if necessary the fluids may be injected under the skin. Constipation, if present, should be corrected. Frequent emptying of the bladder and sweating should also be encouraged. Hot, wet packs and the use of aspirin are helpful, according to Dr. Birdsall.

A search should be made for any infection in the teeth, tonsils or sinuses, and such infections, if found, should be cleared up since they may be contributing causes for the pyelitis.

Various drugs may be used to overcome pyelitis, depending upon the type of germ producing the difficulty. For example, mandelic acid is used for bacilluria or infection due to bacilli. Sulfonamide drugs and penicillin are helpful in those infections which are produced by streptococci and staphylococci.

An X-ray examination may be made to determine if there is some blocking of the flow of the urine due to a kidney stone or other cause. If such a condition is found, operative treatment may be required to get rid of it. If it is not treated promptly and thoroughly, pyelitis is likely to recur and may become a chronic or long continued disorder.

Proper Flood Control Pays Off In Additional Sideline Benefits

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, July 18—If done right, flood control does a number of things besides stopping floods.

It saves the nation's precious topsoil from washing away. And it dams up water for electric power, irrigation and recreation.

Flood control is planned by the U. S. corps of engineers, but congress must okay the plans and vote the money for the work.

James Marlow

The work itself is done by private contractors, who bid for the jobs, under the guidance of the engineers.

Floods are stopped in a number of ways. For example, take the lower Mississippi river.

(Below Cairo, Ill., the Mississippi is called the lower river. It's the upper river from Cairo all the way up to where it starts in Minnesota.)

Took Four Steps

When the lower river flooded in 1927, congress told the engineers to control it. This is how they did it:

1. Levees, banks built up behind the natural banks of the river to keep it from flooding over into the countryside.

2. Channels, more than 150 miles of river were wiped out by cutting new channels through bends where the river had built up too much pressure.

3. Floodways. Dry reservoirs were built near the river. River water is allowed to flow into them at flood time.

This water is held in the reservoirs until the danger of flood is past. Then it is turned back into the river.

4. Revetments. These are mats of concrete, metal or willows built along some levees to keep them from caving or washing away.

So much for what's been done, and is being done, on the lower river.

Ohio Runs Wild

In 1937 the Ohio river ran wild. Then congress told the engineers to work out flood control for the whole nation.

They came up with a plan to prevent floods in any river or place where they might occur. This plan includes:

Not only the upper Mississippi, Ohio and the great Missouri, Arkansas and Red rivers but rivers as far away as the Sacramento in California and the Connecticut in New England.

Except for the war years, the engineers have been working on that plan since 1938. At the rate they're going, they won't finish it for 40 years.

The rate depends upon the money congress gives them. That's why President Truman asked congress yesterday to vote money to do the job in 10 years.

Job Being Done

This is the job the engineers have been doing:

1. Dams or reservoirs. Water from main rivers can be turned into them to prevent floods.

2. Levees, where necessary.

3. Floodwalls. Concrete walls built around city shorelines.

4. Reforestation. Rainwater, not absorbed by trees or other plant life, runs off into streams which in turn flow into rivers, swelling them.

To absorb this rainwater, the agriculture department has started a tree-planting program.

5. Plowing. This means plowing in such a way that topsoil won't wash away from farmland that slopes toward the rivers.

Example: Contour plowing, in which the furrows run parallel to a river, instead of straight furrows that run directly toward a river.

Those are the main methods of flood control. But some of them can be turned to other uses. For example, take the water in dams or reservoirs:

1. In dry country it can be channelled off to irrigate the soil instead of flowing back into a river.

2. In some places the dammed up water can be used for electric power.

3. Or the dammed up water can be used for recreation, such as fishing, sailing, swimming.

CRAWFORD COUNTY

James Johnson of the Johnson Cattle company brought suit in Common Pleas court here Thursday against the New York Central railroad as a climax to Bucyrus' 'hog incident' a year ago. Johnson alleges in his petition that he lost more than 500 hogs consigned to him from Iowa because of the railroad's "careless and negligent" treatment of the animals en route. The hogs arrived on July 16 and many of them were dead at the time. They were placed on a siding here and the following morning the stench covered the whole city. Johnson alleges that 300 of the animals were burned outside the city and that 247 others were taken away by a fertilizing company.

Irene Briggs has filed suit for divorce against Charles R. Briggs charging cruelty.

BUCYRUS, July 18—June 9 Hugh Black of Bucyrus put a model airplane in the air during an exhibition at Baker airport near Marion. Today, he got it back. The plane went straight upward, he reports, and disappeared. Days passed, and then weeks without word from the lost model.

Wednesday, Black got a letter from William Geckle, five miles west of Cardington, informing Black that his plane, which is seven years old, had been recovered.

Once before, several years ago, the plane was lost on a flight from the local airport, but it was recovered within days.

A Record of Notable Service

MARION county has lost an able and conscientious public official in the death of Judge Oscar W. Gast. His wa a notable record of almost two decades as head of the county's probate and juvenile courts. Had he regained his health, no doubt his years in the court would have been continued indefinitely had he wished to remain in office, for that was what the people of Marion county would have wanted. The work he did in this important court, along with his personal popularity, gave him that high place in public esteem.

Judge Gast won especial distinction in juvenile court administration, not only in Marion county but throughout the state. His interest and concern were invariably centered in the welfare of the boys and girls who came before him. He administered his court on the sound conviction that no juveniles are naturally bad and that every possible means should be used to direct them into the right paths, no matter what or how numerous may have been their missteps. He studied their cases, thoroughly investigated their home environments, sought to determine the causes of their waywardness. With this information he always aimed to have corrected the conditions which contributed or led to their so-called delinquency and in so doing made it possible for them to change their ways and grow into good citizens.

The actual and full extent of the good which Judge Gast accomplished in this work of salvaging young human lives probably never will be completely appraised Those acquainted with his long service, however, know that his accomplishments were great and notable, and that numerous young men and women now leading clean and useful lives have reason to be grateful to him for helping them find that course before it was too late.

Big Improvement at Low Cost

REPAIR of sidewalks on Marion's streets will provide the city with an urgently needed and long overdue public improvement.

City council, the mayor and the safety-service director are entitled to thanks of the community for the steps taken to have this work done and to make it mandatory.

People of the city as well as visitors here do not have to be told how much sidewalk repair and reconstruction is needed. They have been fully aware of it over a period of years, during which they have done hops, skips and jumps to avoid pools of water in the downtown area and some residential sections following rains or to escape reservoirs of slushy snow in the fall and winter seasons.

Several years ago The Star called attention to the sidewalk situation, especially in the downtown district, even going so far as to recommend that all old walks there be replaced with new ones of uniform construction, such as are provided for in specifications on file at the city offices. No doubt the repairs now ordered by action of council will result in at least a start toward such uniformity, which will add much to the appearance of the business district, make travel there safer and more inviting and thus be beneficial to business concerns and their customers.

The improvement will be one of the most valuable that could be made and at the same time one that will be done at comparatively small expense.

Council's action places on property owners responsibility for having the work done, which is the correct procedure. If owners fail to have the work done, the city will do it and assess the cost against the property. There could rightfully be no other method, for certainly the cost of improvements which primarily add to the value of certain properties should not be levied against all the community's taxpayers. The public will benefit, of course, but it will be chiefly through providing pedestrians safe travel, and to that they are entitled without being required to pay for it.

The Brighter Side

WITH coal prices due to go up, the ultimate consumer who's going to pay the bill is looking for a bright spot.

Then he sees a gleam. Coal is going to cost more. Hence it will be used more wisely. Inefficient stokers and outmoded furnaces will be brought up to date. Combustible gases that once went up the chimney will be utilized. He who is charged with operating the family furnace will take special care in his task. Industrial executives will examine their coal consumption charts with new interest.

The amount of smoke pouring out of stacks will decline to almost nil. Soot and fly-ash will become as rare as flying saucers. Curtains and drapes will stay up for months without looking like the flag on the rear of a caboose. The savings in cleaning bills will make up for the increased cost of coal, and there'll be enough money left over for the optimist to buy a nice ring for his wife, with a beautiful black setting of highly polished Youghiogheny No. 7.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Aim at Guarding U. S. Against Insane Attack.

WASHINGTON, July 18—In this era of flying disks, top General Eisenhower says this nation must guard itself well against insane attack, and congress is getting on with it The long overdue bill unifying the Army, Navy and Air Corps has been set up for enactment The Navy first negotiated a truce that its appropriations and activities will be rather fully continued Hence the bill will not save much money. National defense appropriations for this fiscal year will run nearly $10,000,000,000. Even military men are beginning to become wary of themselves spending so much. State Secretary Marshall has pointed out soldiers ordinarily have not had much business experience, and should devote some effort to reducing their costs. Possibly a better guard against insane attack might be erected for a few hundred million rather than all those billions, certain congressmen have been muttering.

But the unification, which will eliminate some duplication, is being pushed forward now by the Republicans in a mild form agreeable to the heroes of the war (Eisenhower and Nimitz, for instance). It is a loose unification, but you will soon be calling the martial departments by their new name "National Defense Establishment" Changes from the original bill mainly involve legal rewording to preserve the status of naval aviation, the Marine corps and the administrative functions of routine bureaus which feared being sidetracked

War at High Speed

The final report of Chairman Gurney's armed services committee says "the world is entering an era in which war, if it comes, will be fought at speeds and accompanied by devastations that stagger the imagination" For this, the bill sets up a single overall secretary, three undersecretaries for land, sea and air, a council of national defense (under the President) a national security resources board, the joint chiefs of staff, a central intelligence agency (latter three already operating), a procurement agency and research agency. It does not abolish much, but unifies what already exists.

Frankly, certain congressional people doubt that this will do, but are saying little yet. All defense activities have been glamorized by the indefinite but awful possibilities of atomic attack of directed air missiles. Defense talk has been almost entirely centered in these intangible prospects, without getting down to cases The atmosphere is fraught with flying questions and unclarified.

The only current possibility of attack would come from Russia. The Russian military situation, when measured against the United States, has many definite limitations. Military writers assume a missile attack would be launched across the Polar-Alaskan spaces at our industrial nerve centers (Michigan, Illinois, Ohio) to be followed by invasion from an airborne army Much weather comes that way. Theoretically this might all be done in a few days with efficient organization, but the Russians have displayed no aptitude for organization, comparable for instance, to Nazi efficiency

Chaos Limited

The military men with whom I talk, seem to think the threat now, at this stage of developments, implies a Russian chance to create some limited chaos in this country by sudden missile attack, accompanied by domestic Communist uprisings, but suggests that invasion would be out of the question. They see a threat of terror against us, maybe, but no possibility of conquest They think public awakening to this threat may have been overdone (witnes our aerial pancake sensitivity) because Russia would have to control a great stock of missiles capable of maintaining sustained attack, many thousands of airplanes for invasion, and a system of supply which would defy all efficiency experts. (Airfields would have to be seized progressively advancing toward the point of attack, and these (as well as missile launching bases), would have to be maintained against counterattack) The gasoline problem alone would create a deterrent which Russia could hardly be expected to meet with existing supplies.

Such an attack would necessarily fail if it even gave time for successful counterattack Missile-launching areas would be subject to airplane attack and missile destruction. Russian oil is limited, and vulnerable Defensive services have explored possibilities of creating an air-screen north of us in Canada to blunt the effectiveness of missile flights, throwing them off mark or destroying them The whole attack would require catastrophic destruction of such swift, devastating scope as to raise sound questions about when, if ever, the Russians would be capable of it.

On the other hand the Russians, far from being isolated militarily behind an iron curtain, are weak and openly susceptible to counter-attack a factual expose of their unnoticed and unadvertised condition will be carried in a subsequent column, showing their iron curtain to be tissue paper from their defense standpoint.

About a Water Pitcher

A major league pitcher, having hurled a no-hit game, attributes his success to Alcoholics Anonymous.

This confirms a long-held conviction of bush-loop fans, that all the Double-A baseball isn't played in the Double-A leagues.

Alcoholics Anonymous? That's an organization composed of reformed Men of Distinction.

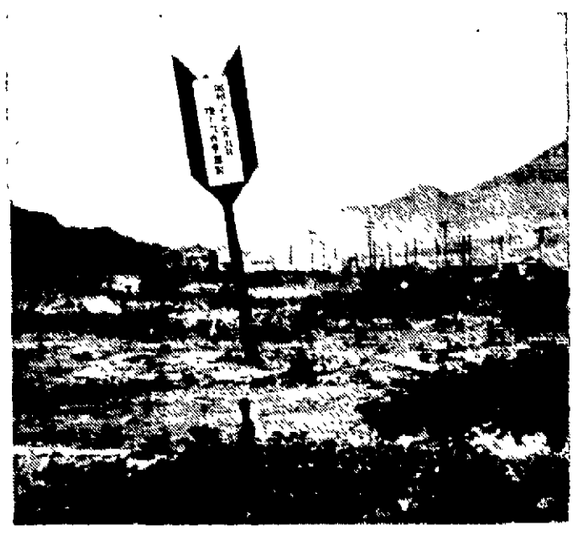
It operates by going to a fellow-member's aid whenever he gets in trouble and it must be something, in this instance, to see them gathering on the mound when the bases are loaded and the count is 3 and 2.

Still, the story of this young man who has gone from pitching parties to shutouts has had a salutary effect Three thousand rookies read his statement and rushed out to take the pledge.

I've seen a lot of testimonials from athletes, but never before for the waterworks.

Of course, in all fairness, it must be pointed out that in baseball there is another, and older, school of thought which holds that it is all right to imbibe moderately—or up to the point one begins to see two catchers.

Nagasaki Wants To Forget



ARROW MARKS THE SPOT where the A-bomb struck at Nagasaki on Aug. 10, 1945. Much of the bombed area is still desolate, the trees on the hills in the background remained charred and dwarfed from the blast and little reconstruction, except of wooden shacks as homes, has taken place.

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Writer

NAGASAKI, Japan—The world's second atomic bomb came to the people of this Kyushu city by an ironic twist of fate. It left no pride among them, no desire to perpetuate that agonizing moment with monuments.

Now they want only to forget, and in forgetting they have let the weeds grow over homesites in gashed Urakami valley.

The valley, about two miles from the center of town, was hit by chance on the morning of Aug. 10, 1945. The primary target for that atom raid, Kokura—about 100 miles northward—was obscured by weather. Nagasaki was second on the day's list.

Japanese figures say 30,000 were killed and 42,000 were wounded in the blinding single flash and reverberating after-effects of the bomb. It wiped out hundreds of thickly-packed workers' homes in the valley, ripped through factories and spent its fury high on enveloping hills where baldness still remains among the forests.

Parallel ridges channelled the bomb's effects and protected Nagasaki itself from the force of the blast. Fires from the valley raced without check the two miles into town, causing most of its wartime damage.

Only a few have returned to the valley. Flimsy homes have been built in spots. A new church has been erected alongside the ruins of the Catholic church, which once had a congregation of 10,000 Japanese.

The remainder is a desolate vista of ruins and seared earth covered with spring weeds. The epicenter of the blast is marked only by a huge arrow, erected by Americans. A once-busy navy yard, including a giant torpedo plant, slumps in ruins.

Twenty-two months after the bomb was dropped, the people of Nagasaki have little desire to return to Urakami valley. Survivors have moved in with relatives in Nagasaki or have left for other prefectures.

Residents of Hiroshima, on Honshu island, have a fierce pride in surviving the first atom bomb. They are contemplating an atomic library and a monument in the center of the city. Hundreds of homes have been rebuilt and business is brisk—even in atomic souvenirs.

THE BIG MINE BOSS

Truman Inconsistency

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, July 18—Immediately after a wage-raise was granted to coal miners there arose penciling and calculating about the effect on prices, not merely of coal but all sorts of goods into the making of which coal enters directly or indirectly, especially steel.

To this, President Truman chipped in. His contribution took a double form, assurance to the public and admonition to heads of industry. He spoke of "deep concern being expressed in many quarters" over what he softly phrased as "possible results" of the wage increase. He said it is "widely feared that the wage increase might renew the inflationary spiral." But, Mr. Truman assured, "such a blow need not fall upon us." For preventing the blow, Mr. Truman admonished heads of industry to wait to see what the actual cost of the wage raise will be, strongly implying that it need not be great. In general Mr. Truman admonished industry heads to refrain from or minimize increases in prices.

Presidential admonition is a useful lever in the mechanism of democracy. Its serviceableness is dependent, however, upon confidence in presidential utterances, and upon consistency of actions of the administration which the president heads. In this regard Mr. Truman, as respects preachments against inflation, is in some risk of overdrawing his account.

Technically and word by word, Mr. Truman's present admonition is sound enough. But any utterance is read by the public in the light of contexts and background, both of the utterance and the utterer.

Mr. Truman makes his admonition "in view of the uncertainty as to whether, or how much, costs of coal may be increased" by the wage raise. Until this is known, he says, "the people of the country have the right to demand that their prosperity shall not be imperiled by immediate increases in the price of coal and in the price of steel."

Of all persons who might use the word "uncertainty" in this connection, Mr. Truman ought to be last. By personal experience, by actions in which he personally took part and which he initiated, he should have no doubt about either the certainty of increased costs and prices, or the immediacy of them.

A year and half ago Mr. Truman personally intervened in a wage controversy between the steel industry and the steel workers' unions. Against what was then the position of the steel industry, Mr. Truman brought about a raise of some 18½ cents per hour for steel workers. Immediately and concurrently, in order to pay the cost of the wage raise, the Truman Administration, which then had official control over prices, decreed an increase of $5 a ton in the price of steel.

A little later occurred another case, which should be almost equally vivid in Mr. Truman's memory, and equally make him immune again any uncertainty. On a single day in June, 1945 an administration agent the office of economic stabilization handed down two decisions—one an increase of $1.37½ a day in the wages of coal miners, the other an increase of 75 cents a ton in the price of coal

The effect of the wage raise did not wait, as Mr Truman in the present case says it should: The wage-raise and price increase were simultaneous, and both were actions of the Administration.

What most gives an atmosphere of inconsistency to all Mr. Truman's preachments against high prices, frequent and urgent during several months past is the practice and policy of the government itself about the prices that are highest of all. In our whole economy, the prices that are highest—the "most out of line" is a soft phrase used for it—are those of farm products, food These prices the government officially and energetically keeps up. In practically every farm product, from wheat and milk to potatoes and peanuts, the government has "price support" mechanisms of several kinds—including, in the case of potatoes, purchased by the government for the specific and avowed purpose of preventing the price from going down, and destruction of some of those purchased All at a cost of hundreds of millions of dollars out of the federal treasury.

To a public painfully aware of the high prices of food; and aware also that high prices of food make high cost of living, that this leads to demands for wage-raises, and wage-raises to increase in the prices of manufactured goods—to the public all this gives to Mr. Truman's preachments an atmosphere of inconsistency.

To suppose, as Mr. Truman implies, that the wage-raise in coal may not result in a substantial and more or less immediate increase in prices of all sorts of goods, would be a triumph of hope, not only over economic law, but over plain and recent experience.

The easiest way to accomplish this is to substitute brotherly love and charity for the spirit of animosity: "Let all bitterness and wrath and anger, and clamor, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice."—Eph. 4:31.

To a Hippo at 44

("Pete a hippo born in the zoo in New York has reached his 44th birthday."—News Item

Tell me, Pete, at forty-four
With a hippo what's the score?
All your life within a zoo,
On your birthday, babe, what's new?

Pretty old as hippos go,
Do you feel okay or low?
A conclusion's hard to pin
From the shape a hippo's in

Body lines give little clue
To the health of such as you;
Wrinkles do not mean so much
On the skin none loves to touch.

As I stand and look you o'er
You perplex me more and more
Looking at you, no one could
Frankly say "You're looking good."

Who could at a hippy blink
And declare "You're in the pink?"
Far too honest, kid, am I
To declare you're looking spry.

Do you have to skimp on starches?
What about your joints, your arches?
How far fallen if at all?
There's so much of 'em to fall!

Legs, they say, will always show
Age and circulation slow,
But a hippo's legs unsporty
Look the same at four or forty.

People age first in the middle,
Making of their years no riddle;
But I can't cy any tape
Frankly say you've lost your shape.

How's your back? This point I make—
There's so much of it to ache!
Do your mouth and tongue get coated?
There's so much of 'em, I've noted.

Headaches? Do you have 'em, hippo?
If so each must be a pip, oh!
And a toothache goodness gracious!—
Must be something extra spacious.

Pete, you leave me baffled plenty,
Little changed since you were twenty
To me you look truly, kid,
NO WORSE THAN YOU ALWAYS DID!

"INSIDE JOHN KIERAN"

In this column's opinion, John Kieran has done his top job in "Footnotes To Nature" his latest book, and it will be easily his best seller For in this tome, John gets way at times from his description of the birds and the bees and for the first time lets the folks get a look at him In this book you discover where it all started you find out about John's early life and you get to know him. How many ever knew that he was once a country school teacher, that he raised chickens and that the first bird he ever identified was a goldfinch as a vireo, just to show off to a girl?

John skips the interlude when he ran the rowboat concession in Central Park Lake, which would make a mighty funny story in itself, and how he was double-crossed out of it, probably the best break of his career, or nearly so. But it is a warm and charming book replete with lovely interludes.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: It looked to me last Sunday as if I'd had my nose on the grindstone as long as could be considered healthy, so the boy and I began a walking trip I figured it was time he learned what some of his relatives looked like in their native habitat. I wanted him to know about farmers who went barefoot in the early morning because they liked the feel of dewy grass on their feet.

I thought it would be good for him to put his feet under some tables in farm kitchens where cooking still is taken seriously. I wanted him to know that outside towns and cities where our decadence is far advanced, there are people still living happily in close contact with the natural circumstances on which all of us are ultimately dependent.

I wanted him to hear the native speech of some of the family tribesmen and to know—I think he is old enough to understand this—that beneath certain crudities that are superficial there exist some of the finest strains of gentility and culture to be found anywhere in the world I particularly wanted him to get it through his head before it hardens that one of the greatest responsibilities any American can accept is on farms where the nation's food is raised and where for the last decade or so a substantial part of the world's food has been produced.

I wanted him to get an idea how to handle himself in the presence of people different from him—people interested in dissimilar things—people whose likes and dislikes are based on premises he never heard of. Above all, I wanted him to get the feel of the country that can be had in only one way. You have to walk over God's earth to know why it's His. Driving over it in a car, flying over it in a plane, or riding past it in a train it's only scenery.

There are too many details to go into but I think I had a measure of success. We were gone from Sunday morning after church to Wednesday night. We made our first stop at the Gault's, this side of Longsville, hit the Madison farm for supper that night and completed the tour by stopping at Luke's place Wednesday noon Once we got started the word was passed along that we were coming, and as a matter of fact the Gaults had invited us on Sunday, which gave me the idea. But it was a chance for your son to see some of his tribesmen in their native haunts and very educational.

For me it was a pleasant change. I had begun to worry too much about fellows like Molotov, Wallace, John Lewis, Petrillo and what that fellow who had the long-term lease on the White House used to call malefactors of great wealth. It was time I got my feet back on the ground where they belonged. I figure we walked 50 miles, all of it on the ground. It was as hard persuading the relatives not to give us rides as it was to do the walking. All of them were anxious to be nice to your boy. That's the way they are, you see. If he's one of the tribe, they want to do right by him. One way and another, including your aunt's kinfolk, I get a lot of comfort about being a tribesman. Some of 'em are skunks and most of them, unfortunately, are unenlightened about politics, but they're decent people. You can thank me for giving your son more education than he probably got all last year in school.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.
Although they may seem a mild ailment, especially when not giving any pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties. Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

VETO

inject into the tax system "inequities which would greatly increase the difficulty of making desirable revisions."

"Compelled" to Veto

He added that the legislation is "at complete variance with the fundamental requirements of a good tax bill," and said he is "compelled" to veto it.

The President referred to international obligations as another reason for delaying the reduction of taxes. He said:

"Our responsibilities for international rehabilitation, have an important bearing on our efforts to secure lasting peace.

"The recent refusal of certain nations to join in common endeavors to establish conditions of world stability increases the difficulty of our task and exposes us to greater risk.

(Mr. Truman apparently referred here to the refusal of Soviet Russia and eastern European nations under her influence to participate in the Paris conference on economic rehabilitation which England and France called on the suggestion of Secretary of State Marshall.)

"Until we are better able to estimate the cost of our investment in world peace and collective security, it is unwise to make so large a cut in our government's future income that our ability to meet our needs would be impaired."

"Unsound Fiscal Policy"

The President said the bill represents not only "unsound fiscal policy" but would contribute "to inflationary pressures which we have made progress in combatting but have by no means overcome."

He continued:

"As I stated in the message on H. R. 1, (the first tax bill) there is no justification for tax reduction so long as price stability at sound levels has not been secured and business, employment and national income at peak levels.

"I regard the present bill as unsound and unsafe. I also regard it as unfair."

Since his original veto, Mr. Truman said income payments to individuals have continued to rise "and the general level of business activity is establishing new high records," while the number of civilians employed has also increased.

Asserting that total employment in June increased by 1,725,000 over May, bringing the total now employed to more than 60,000,000—the highest in history, the President declared:

"There is still no convincing evidence that a recession is imminent.

Would Delay Readjustment

"Tax reduction now would delay the readjustments of prices and wages necessary to maintain this high prosperity. It would lead to an even higher level of prices for consumer goods. It would increase the danger of a recession.

"A good tax reduction bill should give a greater proportion of relief to low income groups."

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the house ways and means committee, author of the bill—first piece of legislation introduced in the house when Republicans took control of congress last January—anticipated the possibility that the second veto would be sustained by the senate.

"The only alternative," Knutson told reporters, "is to carry the battle to the people in the 1948 presidential campaign."

Summarizing the conflict between Mr. Truman and the G. O. P.-controlled congress, Speaker Marin said:

"It is probable that 49,000,000 income taxpayers will have no tax relief for another year. There is serious doubt if there will be any tax legislation next year. congress will not surrender its right to determine what taxes shall be, for if we do representative government is goine out the window."

House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas, said Democrats favor the proper kind of tax reduction at the proper time, and welcome the Knutson bill as an issue in the 1948 campaign.

COST OF VETO TO OHIOANS FIGURED AT 213 MILLION

COLUMBUS, O., July 18—Ohio taxpayers, not including corporations in the state will suffer a "loss" of $213,000,000 if the federal income tax bill is not repassed by congress over the veto of President Truman, President C. I. Weaver of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce said today.

The estimated loss for Ohio amounts to $126 for each of the state's 1,700,000 families, the Ohio Chamber president said. It is also pointed out that $213,000,000 loss to income taxpayers is approximately the amount of real estate and personal property taxes levied in the state last year, and approximately equal to the amount collected for the state general revenue fund during the same period.

The loss figure for Ohio, based on total payments of more than $1,000,000,000 by individual taxpayers of the state into the federal treasury during 1946, is computed by Dr. Arch D. Schultz, research director of the Ohio Chamber.

Truman To Be "Mr. Veto" Of History, Says Reece

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 18—Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece issued a statement saying apparently President Truman is determined that his White House tenure "shall go down in history as the veto administration."

"And you can spell it either 'veto' or 'Vito' without doing violence to the facts," Reece said. "Once more Mr. Veto in the White House has followed the party line drawn in congress by Vito Marcantonio."

(Vito Marcantonio is the American Labor party representative in the house from New York).

"It will be quite satisfactory from the Republican standpoint to have Mr. Truman campaign next year for a fifth term for the New Deal with the slogan, 'Relief for Everyone but the American Taxpayer.' Nevertheless, national interests should be put ahead of political considerations," Reece continued.

Baptists Descend on Denmark For Seventh World Congress

... the Associated Press

... INGTON, July 18—Bap... and laymen from all ... are converging on ... for the seventh con... the Baptist World Alli... ... July 29.

... be one of the largest re... meetings since before the ... between 4,000 and 5,000 ... attending.

... the United States alone ... are going to the meet... ing. Many already are enroute. The largest group sailed on the Queen Elizabeth July 17. Many will go by plane later.

Headquarters of the Alliance here said delegates had no difficulty getting passports visaed for Denmark. The country was spared the ravages of war and food and accommodations for the vast assemblage are adequate.

Two Decisions Awaited

Two of the foremost decisions to be made by the congress are:

▶Election of a president to succeed the late Dr. J. H. Rushbrooke of London.

▶Determination whether Alliance headquarters will return to London or remain in Washington.

Dr. Rushbrooke died last winter. Headquarters for the organization were moved to Washington in 1941 because of the bombing of London and because Dr. W. O. Lewis of the United States, general secretary, could not be in London due to wartime travel restrictions.

It is considered likely that headquarters will be returned to London.

The first congress in London in 1905 determined the Alliance goal "to deepen fellowship and good will among our own people and make known the saving truth of the gospel of the Lord Jesus to all nations."

The organization has no legislative or administrative functions in the Baptist faith which numbers 5,000,000 persons throughout the world. The Alliance says its purpose includes "discussion of such themes as relate themselves generally to the life of our people, as, for example, evangelism, missions, world peace, religious liberty, etc."

One of the greatest services rendered by the Alliance has been aiding displaced persons of World War II. Dr. Rushbrooke and Dr. Lewis devoted most of their time for two years to this work in Europe.

The interim president of the Alliance, Dr. E. H. Fridell, will not be able to attend the Copenhagen congress. He is carrying on work of the church in Japan.

Delegates will go to Copenhagen from all the Scandinavian countries, the British Isles, China, Brazil, Chile, Australia, France, Italy, Spain and Japan. At least 50 Baptist pastors from Germany will attend.

The original London meeting in 1905 adopted a plan to hold the world congress every five years.

TWO ARE INDUCTED BY KIWANIS CLUB

Two new members were inducted at the luncheon-meeting of Kiwanis club held yesterday noon at Hotel Harding. They were Varne F. Shroats, manager of the Farm Bureau here, and Ralph Shick, manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Motor Sales. Robert Williams, chairman of the education committee served as the inducting officer.

Announcement was made that reservations for the all-day meeting of Kiwanis clubs in Division 4, of which Marion is a member, will be in charge of Elandes E. Miller, chairman of the inter-club committee. The meeting will be held August 12 at Lakeside, O.

Reports on the international convention held June 29-July 3 in Chicago, Ill., were given by E. L. Cleveland, president; U. A. Nystrom, vice president, Robert E. O'Connell, Mr. Miller and Dr. F. A. Stengel, all local members who attended.

The next meeting, a dinner-meeting will be at 6:30 p. m. at Marion Country club following the Rotary-Kiwanis golf tournament.

4-H REPORTS GIVEN

Reports on projects were given by Richard Granger and Earl Snare at a recent meeting of the Big Island Farmers 4-H club. Donald Coulson and David Johnson were assigned to give reports at the July 21 meeting. Refreshments were served by Johnny James and James and John Boblenz.

Turoff Bros. Buy Business Block

Chris G. and James G. Turoff, brothers who operate Turoff's restaurant on South Main street, today announced purchase of a business block at 126-128 South Main street from George W. DeWolfe of Fairhaven road in Vernon Heights.

First floor of the building now is occupied by the retail store of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. The company's five-year lease has three years to run with option of renewal for an additional five-year period. The Turoff's said the building was purchased as an investment.

The building was acquired by Mr. DeWolfe in the settlement of the estate of the late Mrs. Warren G. Harding, his grandmother.

The transaction was handled through the Prichard and Co. real estate office.

Marion Midshipman On European Cruise

Midshipman Garland R. Kilbourn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland R. Kilbourn of 668 Concord avenue, of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., is participating in an extended summer training cruise to Europe aboard the battleship USS Wisconsin, the Navy news service reported today.

The cruise, first to be made to Europe by midshipmen since 1937, began June 23 at Rosyth, Scotland, and includes Copenhagen, Denmark; Oslo, Norway; Goteborg, Sweden, and the English ports of London, Portsmouth, Weymouth, Plymouth, Greenwich, and Woolwich, as ports of call.

IMMIGRANTS ABOARD SHIP FIGHT BRITISH

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, July 18—Some 4,500 angry Jewish immigrants aboard a refugee ship used tear gas, smoke bombs, steam jets and other weapons today in a vain battle against a 50-man British boarding party off the Palestine coast, British authorities announced.

Five British destroyers escorted the vessel toward Haifa, where the refugees will be transhipped to troopships for transfer to detention camps in Cyprus.

The announcement said no fatalities were suffered by either side, but that three members of the boarding party were injured.

The British announcement said "small arms fire was used by one of His Majesty's ships against one man who was threatening to decapitate one of the boarding party with an axe, and against another man who was about to use a rifle."

The refugee ship was identified as a former American vessel, the President Garfield, renamed by the immigrants Exodus, 1947.

(The President Garfield, an 1,814-ton steamer was identified in Baltimore as a former excursion boat which saw service in the Normandy invasion in 1944 and later as a troopship.)

Hagana, Jewish underground defense organization, was reported to have appealed to the United Nations special commission on Palestine to intervene in behalf of the immigrants.

Marion Man, 83, Sees Circus; Recalls Show of 75 Years Ago

The calendar was turned back three-quarters of a century today for a Marion octogenarian, G. A. Davidson of 239 Gurley avenue, when he took his lunch and went to the circus, staging a repeat performance of his early boyhood on a farm near Upper Sandusky. And it's the same circus, at least part of it, that he gazed at open mouthed as a lad of about eight, 75 years ago "just about this time."

It's been a long time—Mr. Davidson will be 83 years old tomorrow—but he remembers all about the circus. There were elephants, not so many as now, red lemonade and a sideshow.

The sideshow is the best remembered part of the circus for it was the sideshow that led Mr. Davidson and his brother, Bruce, now deceased, into financial difficulty and caused them to nearly miss seeing the afternoon show.

The two were given 50 cents apiece, the price of admission to the show, by their mother, and the brother, because he was older, was custodian of the funds. Fortified with a lunch the two walked from their farm home to the Wyandot county seat around 10 a. m. (It was just about that time today Mr. Davidson started to Crystal Lake where the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey is showing today. The lure of the sideshow proved too much and 10 cents each was expended to see Tom Thumb and his wife and numerous other wonders.

With the time for the show to begin drawing near the lads remembered a neighbor about three-quarters of a mile up the road, who might be persuaded to make a little advance. Covering the distance in record time they returned triumphant to enjoy the rest of the day at the circus. The show traveled overland using many horses, and the elephants had to walk from county seat to county seat.

Yes, Mr. Davidson was going to drink lemonade if there was any to be had, but he kept discreetly silent as to the sideshow proposition.

Ford Foremen Weigh Renewed Strike Action

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, July 18—The Foreman's Association of America, claiming the Ford Motor Co. broke "its promise to us" in firing 32 supervisors in connection with the recent FAA strike at Ford, moved today for counter-action.

Union heads called a Sunday meeting of Ford foremen to consider a new walkout, and announced they would file with the national labor relations board an unfair labor practices charge against the company.

Ford, reporting the firings yesterday, accused the 32 foremen of "participating in gangster terrorism" during the 47-day walkout, and said the discharges were made after a thorough investigation.

Carrier Sunk at Bikini Inspected by Divers

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, July 18—The gallant old aircraft carrier Saratoga, sent to the bottom off Bikini in the atom bomb tests a year ago, has had visitors.

Dispatches from the group of scientists re-surveying the scene of last summer's great atomic tests report that two navy divers had explored the sunken wreckage.

They said that the old "Sara" was resting on a nearly even keel under the blue waters of the lagoon, her ample flight deck already covered with coral "dust."

Five Georgia Convicts Recaptured at Findlay

By The Associated Press

FINDLAY, O., July 18—Warden F. C. Burns of the Georgia state penitentiary was expected here today to return five escaped convicts to the Tybee island prison at Savannah beach.

Police Chief Leo Larkin said the escapees were captured Wednesday morning through the alertness of a filling station attendant who became suspicious when three of the men attempted to sell him old clothing and an old automobile tire.

Larkin identified the convicts as James Garren, 19, of Athens, Ga., Martin S. Michael, 26, of Rome, Ga., James Patterson of Dalton, Ga., and Paul Jackson, alias James Johnson, 21, and Willie Leon Phillips, 22, both of Augusta. He said they broke out of Tybee island last Saturday and were traveling in an auto bearing stolen Michigan license plates when picked up by police here.

WHAT, NOT A SAUCER?

What some Marion residents believe to have been a sunspot was seen at sundown yesterday, it was reported to The Star. The dark area appeared on the sun just before it set, and could be seen without colored glasses because hazy weather cut the sun's brightness. Those who saw the spot estimated its size at one-tenth to one-twelfth of the diameter of the sun. Sunspots are said by scientists to influence weather conditions on the earth.

Andrei Gromyko Is Leading Tourist Bait at UN

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

LAKE SUCCESS—Soviet Russia's boy wonder of the diplomatic world, Andrei Gromyko, is now the leading tourist attraction of the United Nations.

What Grant's tomb is to Riverside drive, what Coney Island is to Brooklyn, what Frank Sinatra is the bobby sox brigade—that is what this poker-faced Russian has become to visitors who flock to the verbal arena of the UN security council.

Hal Boyle

Many of them secretly come for the reason given by a middle-aged Long Island matron:

"I just want to hear him say 'No!'"

They are a little dismayed to learn that when Gromyko says "No!" he may do it in a speech lasting longer than a banker's lunch.

The other 10 delegates admire the tough dexterity of his mind, but they don't share the spectator enthusiasm for the positive way in which he delivers his negatives.

Made Grand Slam

For Gromyko is the marathon champ in this respect. Only 10 voters have been invoked so far in the security council. Gromyko invoked them all. France came in on one as an echo.

The 39-year-old career diplomat, who worked up from a farm-boy to the post of spokesman for Russia here, is the youngest member of the security council. He is tall, powerfully built, and has black hair. His dark eyes look small behind a large nose set in a face slightly too full for his forehead.

"He's the caveman type dressed up," is the way one secretarial employe describes him.

Gromyko is strongly neat in appearance without the dapper polish of an Anthony Eden. His present role as the glamor lad of the international briefcase and umbrella set—5,000 people applied for one of the 514 chamber seats to hear him speak recently—has somewhat relaxed his natural taciturnity.

Appears Amused

It appears to amuse him. He usually obliges visitors who want his autograph, and he spends more time in the morning in the delegate's lounge. He indulges in an occasional smiling wisecrack there.

But once the security council session starts he becomes grim and machinelike. He sits on the same side of the horseshoe-shaped wooden table as the British, American and Australian delegates, but rarely glances at them.

All other delegates appear to aim their speeches at him, as he sits rocklike behind the severe horn-rimmed glasses he dons at the table. When representatives of the smaller nations speak, Gromyko listens often with an expression of bored disdain. But his attention is keen when the big powers speak. With set face he notes down objections.

There is complete silence—almost a holding of the breath—when Gromyko suddenly lifts up his pencil. It is his signal he wants to be heard.

Voice Bass, Strong

His voice is bass and strong. The Russian words pour from him in a steady, measured tide, and he gestures heavily with his pencil in cadence with his words. They carry a feeling of smouldering emotion and deep complaint—the same reaction you get from hearing Russian music.

When he finishes, there is again a gap of silence. The other delegates shift uneasily. Gromyko sits back, remote, impassive. But as the interpreter begins to translate his speech, he leans forward to correct him—to get exactly the right English expression he wants. Some speeches Gromyko delivers himself in English.

As another delegate starts to reply to him Gromyko again settles back—cold, withdrawn, aloof to objections, his black brows half-frowning.

One lady from Georgia (U.S.A.) listened intently to a Gromyko speech. Her son asked her opinion of it.

"He makes me think of a bear when he talks," she said. And that's a good picture of Gromyko—the young Russian bear with a tone of old injury.

EX-CORPORAL RETURNS MINUS BRITISH BRIDE

Husband Optimistic Marital Tangle Will Resolve, However.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, July 18 — Ex-Corporal Ralph Crow was expected back here today, still minus the wife who left him July 10, but hopeful of finding an apartment where they could be happy.

Crow turned up yesterday at Bayside, L. I., for a reunion with his pretty 20-year-old British war bride, Faye Ann. Members of the household of her aunt, Mrs. Violet Duncan, said that the couple had decided that he would return to Columbus without his wife to find a "place where they can be together by themselves."

Mrs. Crow disappeared last week and hitch-hiked to Long Island with $1.50 in her purse. She was expected to remain here with her aunt "at least two or three weeks" longer.

The Crows, married in London in 1945, had lived with the parents of the former Air Forces corporal in Columbus since her arrival in this country last February.

Hess, 6 Other Nazis Begin Prison Terms

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, July 18 — Rudolph Hess and six other major Nazi war criminals, all sentenced at Nuernberg, arrived at Spandau prison today to serve terms ranging from 10 years to life.

The group was flown here secretly from Nuernberg jail, where they have been confined since last October.

The prisoners, in addition to Hess, were former Economics Minister Walther Funk and former Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, sentenced to life terms; Baldur von Schirach, ex-youth leader, and Albert Speer, former arms production chief, who both received 20 years; Baron Constantin von Neurath, former Reich's Protector of Bohemia and Moravia, 15 years, and former Adm. Karl Doenitz, 10 years.

Kipling's "elephant a-pilin' teak" had nothing on the hard-working elephant gals of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus when the big show unloaded today and erected its city of forty-odd big and little tents at the Crystal Lake park. "Trilby" and many another working elephant did her stint in harness and then donned circus finery for appearance in the circus storybook spectacle, "Once Upon a Time." The show is here today only and goes to Columbus after tonight's performance.

Fire Destroys Barn Near Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY, July 18—Fire of unknown origin destroyed a 60 by 60 foot barn on the Ward W. Walton farm near Champion Grange hall, north of here, Wednesday night. The building and the machinery stored in it were a total loss.

The blaze was discovered by neighbors who called the Crane township fire department but the flames had already gained too much headway. The tenant, Eli Smith, and his family, were in Carey at the time of the fire.

2 WOMEN ESCAPE MARYSVILLE CELLS

Remove Bolts from Windows; One Believed Hurt.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, July 18—Dorothy Alexander, 20, of Toledo and Jozeleia Smith, 24, of Cleveland, escaped from the Ohio Women's reformatory about 9:30 last night. Reformatory officials said the two removed bolts from a barred window on the second floor of the reformatory and jumped to the ground. Authorities expressed the belief one of them may have been injured by the fall. A torn piece of sheet stained with blood was found this morning on a road about one-half mile from the reformatory.

The escape was the third for the Alexander girl, who was committed to the reformatory in May, 1944, on a delinquency charge. Sentenced in November, 1942, for armed robbery, the Smith woman was returned to the reformatory last December as a parole violator. Both are Negroes.

Cubs Divide with Dayton, Losing, 2-1, Winning, 4-1

Rosin Hurls Victory; Edington Pitches in Tough-Luck Opener

By JIM DARBY

Fans who like their baseball straight and well-pitched got their fill last night at Lincoln park as the Cubs lost a seven-inning opener to Dayton, 2-1, and won the regulation-length finale, 4-1.

Either game would have been a heart-breaker to lore and Lady Luck frowned on John Edington in the first and smiled on Bill Rosin the second. Herb Benzel won for Dayton while Joe Jackson (this one wears shoes) was charged with the loss of the nightcap. A crowd of 1,609 saw the double feature.

Get Excellent Support

All four hurlers got excellent support from their teammates and sensational catches became commonplace as the evening wore on.

Wally Rasmussen, whose parents were in the stands, went wild in the second game, batting two for four, sending three runs across the plate and stealing two bases.

Edington's downfall came in the second inning of the first game. Filkins singled to start the fireworks and went to second as Spicer grounded out.

Swings at Wild Pitch

Then Stratter with two strikes against him, took a swing at a wild pitch and was camped out first by the time Burbrink could recover the ball. Filkins took third on the play. Singles by Benzel and Paulus brought Filkins and Stratter in with the two markers.

Marion scored in the sixth when Smith singled and Maxhimer doubled.

In the fourth inning of the second game, Maxhimer and Burbrink singled and scored a moment later as Rasmussen singled. In the sixth, Burbrink and Shuford and Rasmussen singled his Skipper in. Shuford scored on Forbes hit.

Spicer, first man up in the top of the sixth, clouted one over the left field wall for Dayton's only score.

Win Streak Snapped

The win was Dayton's eighth straight and first in Lincoln park. That game also marked the beginning of the second half of the season for the Bruins.

Tonight the same two teams square off in a single game on the local field at 8 p. m.

Saturday the Springfield Giants will help the Cubs stage a benefit game for the Shrine club's hospital for crippled children. They'll be around for a split doubleheader Sunday, first game at 2 p. m., second at 8.

20,000 MAY SEE GAME

CANTON, July 18—One Canton official reported today that if ticket sales for the Ohio All-Star scholastic football game continued to keep pace with the early sale, a crowd of at least 20,000 was assured for the game Aug. 15 in Canton.

Zanesville Wins Eighth Straight

By The Associated Press

Zanesville's Dodgers won their eighth straight game last night boosting their Ohio State league lead to six games.

The Dodgers polished off the Richmond Roses, 16-2, never trailing after Don Taylor hit for the circuit in the second inning with one mate aboard.

Muncie's Packers put out an 18-hit attack to trounce the Newark Browns 11-7, smashing a 7-00 tie in the eighth by scoring four runs.

Springfield's Giants made easy targets of the last-place Lima Terriers, winning 10-8.

Peggy Kirk To Meet Cleveland Golf Champ

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., July 18—Peggy Kirk, Findlay red-head who has yet to win a major tournament, and Jean Hopkins, Cleveland city champion, meet today in the 36-hole finals of the Ohio women's golf championship at the Portage Country club.

Miss Kirk, 25, tabbed as the tourney favorite after she won medalist honors with a three-under-par 69 Monday, has opposed the Clevelander several times previously with the record about even.

Both are making their first appearance in the Ohio finals.

Marion Man To Keep O.S.U. Grid Statistics

Robert Blake of 266 South Vine street has been named to help with press box statistics at Ohio State football games next fall, according to a release by the college athletic news service.

Blake, a member of the class of 1948 at State, has been acting as public address system announcer at Ohio State league games here.

Rain-Plagued Race Officials Reshuffle Harness Program

With the Little Grand Circuit races rained out for the three nights in a row and the end of the meeting billed for Saturday night, it became necessary today for Secretary Frank M. Foster to alter the plans for both evenings.

Six stake races remain to be contested before the curtain falls on the 1947 card. In addition to the six stakes two dashes remain of the 28 class pace which was rained out Monday after one dash in each division had been run.

Two two stakes on the program tonight include the 24 trot stake and the 2-year-old trot stake.

For the closing program tomorrow night one of the best cards ever offered at the fairgrounds will be presented.

Four major stakes will furnish plenty of high grade horses for what is expected to be one of the largest crowds in the closing history.

Highlighting the finals will be the 14 trot and the free for all pace. The free for all pace annually gives Marion racing fans one of the country's best harness races.

Several of the oustanding side-wheelers that were in the contest for 14 pacers last Saturday night are also entered in the program.

Barefoot G, a big disappointment last week, is ready to show fans she was just having a bad night. Double Volo is also entered in the big race as well as Shanklin and Miss Ruby winners of the 14 pace last week. Other outstanding pacers are also in the contest with several that were not eligible for the feature event of last week.

The two other stake events for Saturday are the 17 pace and 23 pace.

LIGHTNING KILLS GOLFERS

By The Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 18—Two golfers were killed when struck by lightning which followed rainstorms here yesterday. They were Conrad Pifer, 21, Navy veteran of World War II, and Robert W. Grant, 19. The bolt struck among a group of five at the Municipal golf course. The others were not injured.

Victory March of N. Y. Yankees Scares Even National League

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees' merciless victory march in the American league had even the rival National league clubs jittery today.

With 19 straight victories under their belts to tie the American league consecutive win record, the Bronx Bombers are casting covetous glances at the only two winning streaks exceeding theirs—the 21 straight by the 1935 Chicago Cubs and the major league records of 26 polled by the New York Giants in 1916.

The Yankees made it 19 in a row yesterday when they defeated the Cleveland Indians in both ends of a doubleheader 3-1 and 7-2 at Cleveland's Municipal stadium. The double victory enabled them to equal the 41-year-old standard set by the Chicago White Sox in 1906.

Newsom Wins 200th

The opener was a special occasion for Bobo Newsom, the much travelled pitcher who finally landed with the Yankees last week after having been with seven other big league clubs. Old Bobo scattered nine hits effectively to register his second straight win in a Yankee uniform, his sixth of the season and the 200th of his big league career.

Vic Raschi, a 29-year-old right-hander recalled recently from Portland of the Pacific coast league, doled out six hits in the second game to gain his second victory in a week. Veteran first baseman George McQuinn was the batting star, getting two hits in each game, one a two-run homer.

The double win enabled the Yanks to maintain their 11½ game lead over the second place Tigers. The Bengals came from behind twice to capture both ends of a doubleheader from Washington 7-5 and 4-3.

Bosox Beat Chisox

The Red Sox remained a game behind the Tigers by winning two from the White Sox in Chicago 4-1 and 6-3. the second game going 11 innings. Joe Dobson who has become the number one pitcher on the Red Sox staff, won his 10th game with a six-hit effort in the opener.

The Philadelphia Athletics, leading 7-2 going into the ninth inning, whacked across nine more runs to trounce the Browns in a night game in St. Louis 16-2. Henry Thompson, one of the two Negro players signed by the Browns yesterday, played second base and went hitless in four trips to the plate.

A queen trumped a king on the diamond when Mel Queen, newest pitching member of the Pittsburgh Pirates won over Clyde King and the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-1 at Ebbets field. Queen scattered eight hits for his first victory of the season as the Pirates made it three out of four against Brooklyn.

Cards Near Top

The fourth place St. Louis Cardinals moved within four and a half games of the National league leading Dodgers when they defeated the Braves in a night game in Boston 5-2.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen scattered nine hits for his 11th victory and drove in the first two Cardinal runs. Brecheen, after having been hit by a batted ball for the third time in the game, had to be taken out after eight innings. Brecheen said later in the clubhouse that the pain went beyond the wrist of his throwing arm.

Rain and wet grounds caused the postponement of the scheduled doubleheader between the Cubs and Giants at the Polo grounds. Cincinnati and the Philadelphia Phils were not scheduled.

Games tomorrow and Sunday will be tune-ups to the district tournament for the Marion junior Legion baseball team.

They meet Shelby at 1:30 p. m. at Lincoln park tomorrow and Sunday, starting at the same time, they will play Galion there.

These will be the fifth and sixth games respectively for the Marion club.

TRUMAN NAMES LABOR CHIEF

...Under New Law Pre... ...s It Will Benefit Nation.

By The Associated Press

... July 18—Rob... ...newly-appointed ... the Taft-Hartley ... said today that ... administration the ... a great deal to ... and industry."

... Truman's choice ... post of general ... expanded national ... board the 62-... can take a re... ... labor situation ... up much more ... some people be...

... has no intention to use his powers under the new act to "dictate" labor rela...ons.

No Czar Needed

I don't think abor needs a czar," he declared. Neither does anyone.

Along with Denham, now an NLRB trial examiner, the President announced yesterday his two choices for the additional board membership created by the act—Abe Murdock, former Democratic house member and senator from Utah, and Republican J. Copeland Gray, labor relations expert of Buffalo, N. Y.

All three jobs pay $12,000 annually, and the appointees are subject to senate confirmation.

Murdock and Gray will serve with members of the existing board, including Chairman Paul Herzog, John M. Houston and James J. Reynolds, Jr., whom Mr. Truman formally reappointed yesterday.

Senators Won't Comment

Neither Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of both the senate Republican steering and senate labor committees, nor Senator Ball (R-Minn), member of the labor committee, had any immediate comment on the nominations. Senator Lodge (R-NY), also on the labor group, said he did not know any of the three new appointees.

But Senator Morse (R-Ore), sometimes a rebel from the Republican party line, said of Murdock: "I have the highest regard for him. I consider it an excellent appointment."

The ranking Democratic member of the labor committee, Senator Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah), said he thinks Mr. Truman has appointed a fine board and a fine general counsel."

Denham said he had discussed his appointment with John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, although not with the President, and was definitely "committed to the fair administration of the act" pledged by Mr. Truman and the three present members of the NLRB.

LIQUOR

"And that means everything not that first letter.

I know the ban will continue another week and possibly longer," he said.

The state liquor director who took over after the recent resignation of Stanley B. Cofall of Cleveland asserted that representatives of liquor companies "knowingly overloaded the state liquor department."

He said he had personally accused several such representatives with that action.

Demands Return

He added that he told those representatives that he wanted to talk to some person in authority looking to the return to them of slow-moving and overloaded items preferably on a cash basis.

Dunfon said that in some instances the liquor department would take in exchange some fast-moving varieties but that all such arrangements would be on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

The director indicated it would be impossible to arrange such deals in some instances because letters demanding adjustments had been returned by the post-office department which was unable to locate certain concerns.

But he assured newsmen that it was "not just" the fly-by-night concerns" which had participated in the overstocking."

Declines Explanation

Dunfon declined to attempt an explanation on the tremendous influx of orders in the dying months of the Lausche administration.

"I can not outguess the other man's mind," the director said. "It would be impossible for me to."

Dunfon's report amplified testimony.

Dunfon made a point of responsibility in the ordering of liquors by telling newsmen that in the future every bottle of spirits purchased by the state department would be approved by himself.

He mentioned in that connection that during the period of "overstocking" during the Lausche administration, Robert M. Sohngen of Hamilton was liquor director. Sohngen resigned to accept appointment to the state supreme court from Lausche before the former governor's term ended.

At that time A. J. Balmert was assistant director and Patrick Rannican was purchasing agent.

The committee at that time is known presented a few months ago to a special state senate liquor investigating committee regarding overstocking.

It was acquired volunteers a statement saying that it is difficult to believe that inventories of slow-moving liquor are the result of an honest mistake, and until some person connected with the department at the time it was acquired volunteers a satisfactory explanation a suspicion will persist that it was not.

The committee took note that no one had appeared before the committee to explain the charge.

By their silence they have invited a grand jury investigation, the committee added.

Dunfon said he was sending a copy of his report to the governor on the liquor situation to Franklin County Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett.

Governor Herbert was not available for comment.

ONLY FEW STOCKS RESIST DEPRESSION

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 18 — A few strong spots remained in today's stock market although the general direction still was downward.

Pressure was lacking from the start. There was a brief rally before midday which soon evaporated. Losses of fractions to a point or so predominated near the fourth hours.

Armour preferred and Prior preferred jumped on plans to redeem the former and pay off arrears on the latter. An initial extra dividend lifted Lowenstein. Ahead at intervals were Douglas Aircraft, Texas Co., Santa Fe, American Water Works and Union Carbide.

Backward most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Deere, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, American Can, Boeing, Owens-Illinois, Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Pacific and Pennsylvania railroad.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

AT Dicky's pronouncement, 'I case may be?"

looked nervously at the door of Faith's room to which our small daughter had been sent during our conference with Dr Twitchell

It had been opening slowly while he spoke, and I had not been able to catch his attention and check his words in time to escape her hearing them

"Why is the doctor nervous?" she asked sweetly, as she came into the room, "and who is Harriet, and what wrong thing is she going to write?"

"Why didn't you flag me?" Dicky murmured to me

"Because I couldn't catch your eye, I returned in the same undertone Then we turned a 'united front'—to our child

"What did you say, darling?" I asked in a frantic attempt to gain time in which to arrange my answer

"Caitiff!" my husband murmured, but I did not acknowledge the gibe with even a look

Faith repeated her questions in singsong fashion, and I pulled myself together

"Dr. Twitchell is nervous about a telegraph message," I said, in as matter-of-fact tones as I could manage "He sent one to a friend of his named Harriet, and he's afraid she may mix up the answer"

"Oh!" Faith said, and something in her manner told me that she was utterly unconvinced by my answer

Watching Warily

"You know, it's a funny thing how you can misunderstand," she said, and I was conscious that she was watching me warily "I was sure that the doctor was nervous about Cousin Mary, and that the Harriet who was going to wire was my aunt Harriet Braithwaite who lives in Detroit and who—whom, I mean—I don't see very often"

I seized a God-given opportunity to try to divert her attention

"You are a very good little girl to remember about that 'who' and 'whom,'" I said 'Those words are very tricky"

"I'll tell the cock-eyed world they are!" her father chimed in, snatching at his cue 'What do you say, Mummy? Shouldn't a smart cookie like this have a reward? May'n't I go down and buy her something to be eaten after dinner, or read to her, as the

A few minutes after they came back, dinner was served to us, and after dinner, Katharine again begged the boon of putting Faith to bed

When she was back in the sitting room again, Dicky went to his penthouse studio to work adjuring us to call him if he was needed Katharine and I shared watches, but neither of us slept well, and we awoke early, breakfasted, and were ready for Dr Twitchell on his arrival at seven-thirty. Dicky was in the sitting room at the same time

And then, at seven-forty-five, the telephone rang and when I had dashed to the instrument, a voice said: "Mrs Graham? Long Distance calling"
